

Learning/Access Center (L/AC) at Pratt Institute

Location

Learning/Access Center (L/AC) at Pratt Institute
200 Willoughby Avenue, ISC Building, Room 104
Brooklyn,
New York
11205

Website

<https://www.pratt.edu/student-life/student-affairs/learning-access-center/services/>

Email

lac@pratt.edu

Phone

(718) 802-3123

Description

The Learning/Access Center (L/AC) (formerly Disability Resource Center) at Pratt Institute provides comprehensive academic support services that are available to all Pratt students. The L/AC also facilitates full access for students with disabilities and veterans so that they can freely and actively participate in all facets of Pratt life. The L/AC collaborates to provide institute-wide advisement and consultation on disability-related matters (including legal compliance and universal design) and provides individual services and tools to facilitate diverse learning styles and accommodations in a sustainable inclusive manner. Accommodations offered include, but are not limited to the following:

- Alternative and Electronic Format
- Priority Registration
- Extended Time for Exams
- Extended Time for Written Assignments
- Note-Taking
- Preferential Seating
- Recording Lectures
- Assistive Listening Devices
- Sign Language Interpreting
- Real-Time Captioning
- Assistive Technology Training and Resource Library
- Individualized Sessions and Workshops with a Learning Specialist
- Workshops

HAS THE L/AC SUSPENDED SERVICES DUE TO COVID-19? No. The L/AC continues to support accommodations for students with disabilities. For further updates to Pratt's response to COVID-19, please visit "COVID-19 Coronavirus FAQs and Updates" and "Financial Impact of COVID-19."

Back to All Resources & Opportunities