Description

The Graduate Center (GC) is the principal doctorate-granting institution of the City University of New York. Offering more than thirty doctoral degrees from Anthropology to Urban Education, and fostering globally significant research in a wide variety of centers and institutes, the GC provides rigorous academic training in the humanities, sciences, and social sciences. A list of all the Masters and Graduate Programs are listed on GC's website.Â

Through its extensive public programsâ€”lectures, conferences, performances, and exhibitionsâ€”the Graduate Center contributes to the intellectual and cultural life of New York City and affirms its commitment to the premise that knowledge is a public good.Â

HAS THIS PROGRAM BEEN SUSPENDED DUE TO COVID-19? No. However due to COVID-19, in-person classes, meetings and appointments have been suspended or moved online. ABOUT CUNY: The City University of New York (CUNY) has 24 modern campuses spanning the five boroughs of New York, including; Senior Colleges, Community Colleges, and Graduate Schools.Â

Providing a quality, accessible education, regardless of background or means, has been CUNY's mission since 1847. Every year, hundreds of thousands of students â€” including a record 274,000 degree-credit students â€” choose The City University of New York for a multitude of reasons that can be summed up as one: opportunity.

The University's seven community colleges provide a high-quality education through associate degree programs that prepare students for transfer to senior colleges or entry into professional careers. The CUNY Graduate Center offers more than 30 doctoral programs. CUNY School of Public Health and Health Policy, a collaboration of four CUNY institutions, offers master's and doctoral degrees. The CUNY School of Law is recognized as the nation's premier public-interest law school.
